THE VOICE OF THANKSGIVING

Official Newsletter of Glad Tidings 3AM

Welcome!

We thank you for taking the time to read through our Newsletter, “The Voice of Thanksgiving”. It is our continued desire that through the power of the pen, we can help to disseminate the present truth for this time, so needed in our world today. In this issue you will be given a host of topics ranging from, current events, health and wellness, family life etc., with a table of contents located to right of this paragraph. The disciplines of reading, study, and meditation are areas of development and overall education that have been systematically weaned from the collective consciousness, as being aspects of human life unneeded for this new epoch of modernity. Especially as it relates to the mindset of the 21st Century Christian, actual spiritual development, with its attendant intellectual cultivation, are now seen as being unimportant. “Relationship”, “worship”, or other frequently used Christian buzzwords are now deified to the exclusion of proper principles which leads to a genuinely fulfilling walk with Christ. It is a sad fact to lament that this state of affairs to a great degree dominates the religious landscape within Christendom and has unfortunately led to many erros of faith and practice, with even the most sincere of believers.....Continued on page 2

When the whole world is being psychologically conditioned to rely upon the thought process and reasoning of men in positions of arbitrary authority, it is of paramount importance that those who desire freedom, both practically and spiritually, get back to the rudiments of piety, intelligence and studiousness. Here at Glad Tidings 3AM, we pray that this newsletter's publication will be as a means of once again helping to encourage and cultivate that love of spiritual evolution and growth which leads us to pray, study, and meditate, filling our hearts and minds with the things of God!

FAMILY CORNER: DAYS OF OUR YOUTH

By ERIKA TUCKER

"Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them" Ecclesiastes 12:1

As adults, we can remember that in childhood we all spoke, thought, and understood as children. While we can reminisce upon many pleasant experiences, and some not so pleasant at all, for most of us childhood was a mixed bag. For some of us maybe many, not knowing God and/or exercising willful disobedience in our youth has bleed into our adulthood and has influenced our Christian experience. You can hear the cry of Solomon, as He reflects upon this most solemn truth "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth…". How important it is to have the Word of God as a shield and guide map in this dark world that is after the hearts, mind, and bodies of young people. I could look back at my childhood and see all the pitfalls that were before my feet. While I am eternally grateful that my lot was made sweeter than the trajectory that the enemy prepared for me, I can second the warning call of Solomon to the young.

Dear youth, though the evil day doesn't come to you right away or you may not immediately see the influence of your bad choices upon your future life; we all reap what we sow. You may think the temporary pleasure is worth the indulgence and is not that serious but it is here where many youth fail to recognize their true advantage in their Christian upbringing. " If youth who have been properly educated make God their trust, their moral powers will stand the most powerful test."

FAMILY CORNER: DAYS OF OUR YOUTH CONINTUED....

My young friends, my prayer is that you recognize the power and trust that is given to you by the Lord. Yes, there are many privileges that you have being a young person but don't take it for granted. The devil is after you the most during this time because he knows that if he can have your heart now, he doesn't have to work hard to keep it when you're an adult. The work of overcoming in the little things when you're young, not only makes it easier to give your heart to Jesus, but gives you true freedom in later life; where many adults are only living in bondage to their childhood disobedience.

Challenge: Parents and children, study the lives of four Old Testament characters, both those who followed the Lord and those who didn't. Write down the character virtues that are important for your development and the ones that you want to stay away from. You can also put in on note cards and stick in different parts of the house. Go over these virtues as often as possible and view them as gifts from God, believing you have received them. Even if you are challenged by discouragement or failure, don't give up until that weakness becomes your strength.

"Children should be so trained and educated that they will expect temptations and calculate to meet difficulties and dangers. If they do not willfully rush into danger, and needlessly place themselves in the way of temptation,... they will have strength of character to stand for the right and to preserve principle, and come forth in the strength of God with their morals untainted."

Freedom and Democracy?

by SAMUEL TUCKER

Before we get into the uncomfortable details regarding the current crisis taking place in the Middle East, a crisis that has serious potential of flaming into a much larger regional conflict, it is always wise to remember the words of our Saviour, “And ye shall hear of wars and rumours of wars: see that ye be not troubled: for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet.” Matthew 24:6 State aggression is one of the major and unfortunate ongoing events that Heaven has declared will be with humanity till the end of mortal things but we are comforted with the conclusion, “the end is not yet”!. Humanity in its current condition, both righteous and wicked, will not meet their end via war, famine, nuclear annihilation, or A.I. supremacy but by the glorious second coming of the Great Inhabitor of Eternity. This anticipated Consummation that has been so longed hoped for and desired by God’s faithful children, from the days of our first parents expulsion from Eden, to the reformers of Catholic controlled Europe in the dark and middle ages, all believers have yearned for the end of sin and all of its results. This anticipated glory, Jesus Christ will not permit to be overshadowed by the uncontrolled passions of unregenerate humanity that find expression in the “art of war” to which mankind has become so familiar. With this peace inducing dictum, we can rest in hope that God’s plans will come to fruition, especially considering that “this gospel”, as expressed in Matthew 24:14, is still in need of practical demonstration, that the glory of the Lord may be our “rereward”, Isaiah 58:8. “And I saw heaven opened, and behold a white horse; and he that sat upon him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he doth judge and make war. And out of his mouth goeth a sharp sword, that with it he should smite the nations”

With this in mind, we focus our attention upon the specifics concerning the current pandemonium surrounding the nation state of Iran. As a backdrop when discussing United States military involvement in foreign affairs, it is always of the upmost importance to understand this premise, so eloquently stated by the 20th century British investigative journalist, Avro Manhattan, "Big Business, the promoter of practically all subsequent North American aggressions, the most persistent destroyers of the civil liberties of the American masses". Contrary to popular altruistic "American Exceptionalist" opinion, the United States and its allies in the region, are not carrying out bombing campaigns against Iran, its government, and people because it is seeking to liberate the oppressed common man, free its women, or establish democracy but because of the love of mammon and the producers of mammon, in this case, oil, natural gas and mineral wealth. This Satanically scienced playbook has been used so long by American foreign policy, that the ruling elite have no shame in conducting these internationally illegal and unconstitutional acts, with the greatest impunity imaginable. And it is with the greatest sorrow of heart that so many of us as Americans have been so brainwashed by the United States media apparatus, that tens of millions, including professed Christians, yea Seventh-Day Adventists, in this country, are wholeheartedly supporting American military interests in the region.

"The US media, as with most of the news media in other Western nations, are not free and independent. They are owned and controlled by largely "conservative corporate cartels" that adhere to the self-serving neoliberal ideology of international capital.The goal of these politico-economic elites is to transform the world into a "global economy" under the tutelage of the transnational corporations, backed by the unanswerable imperial might of the United States and its allies."

Especially from the Christian perspective in the United States, because so many have wickedly patronized, idolized, and worshipped at the shrine of President Donald Trump and the baseless slogan of "Make America Great Again", many cannot see these things for what they are but "if Donald says it, then I believe it". This is not an arbitrary attack upon Trump's supporters, especially if you are one dear reader, but as a means of properly disclosing the facts in the case, so as to awaken the mind from the darkness of deception to intellectual and spiritual enlightenment.

This aggressive and arbitrary excursion is not a new endeavor for the United states in Iran but the continuation of a long stated policy by America's intelligence apparatus in the aforementioned country. Robert Dreyfuss, the national security writer, is his exceptional work, "Devil's Game: How the United States Helped to Unleash Fundamentalist Islam", will explain to us some of America's history in disrupting and overthrowing Iranian governmental autonomy. "In the early 1950's, two nationalist leaders emerged in two of the most powerful countries of the Middle East, Egypt and Iran.....In both cases Great Britain, the United States, and their intelligence agencies went into action , overthrowing Mossadegh and trying but failing to do the same to Nasser, and in both cases, MI6 and the CIA used the Islamic right as a cat's-paw....That effort would culminate in America's most famous CIA covert operation, the 1953 coup d'etat in Iran—and, as in Egypt, right wing Islamists would play a prominent role".

"Most Americans assume that, on the whole, United states foreign policy is concerned with the prevention of war, or when war comes, with the resistance of aggression. The religious rationale for World War II and subsequent U.S. foreign policies has contributed greatly to the world-wide dominance of the United States and the revolutionary reaction to the American Empire."

As can be seen, anytime the United States has perceived that a foreign nation's leader is not favorable to their economic interests regarding the nations natural resources, American "freedom and democracy", will always be ready to establish its hegemony in said country. Case in point, the dark history of the DRC, or the Democratic Republic of Congo, whose mineral wealth has been estimated to be a mind boggling 24 Trillion dollars, had their democratically elected leader, Patrice Lumumba, brutally assassinated and his body dumped in acid in 1961, because he wanted the nation's mineral wealth to benefit his people, as opposed to United states multinational corporations.

This brief history helps to sum up the true ruling motive in this new epoch of war declared by the United Sates and its allies. Besides what has already been stated, these conflicts will always benefit the war machine, the companies that produce the machinery for battle, and the dark elite who feel that "population control" is always served when such "freedom" initiatives are engaged. The words of Smedley Butler, the 20th century American Marine Corps Major General, are a timeless inditement upon these exhibitions of uncontrolled human power, "War is a racket. It always has been. It is possibly the oldest, easily the most profitable, surely the most vicious. It is the only one international in scope. It is the only one in which the profits are reckoned in dollars and the losses in lives.....I spent 33 years and four months in active military service and during that period I spent most of my time as a high class muscle man for Big Business, for Wall Street and the bankers." Continued on Page 10

"I spent 33 years and four months in active military service and during that period I spent most of my time as a high class muscle man for Big Business, for Wall Street and the bankers. In short, I was a racketeer, a gangster for capitalism."

So much more could be said about this dark and daily unfolding epoch in American imperialism and more will be stated in future works. For now remember the words of Holy Writ concerning the stated policy of the United States, as it relates to its prophetic identity, which as been enumerated so eloquently, yet succinctly, for almost two millennia, “And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon. And he exerciseth all the power of the first beast before him, and causeth the earth and them which dwell therein to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.” Revelation 13:11, 12 The United States has been, and will forever position itself merely as a spitting image of the totalitarianism demonstrated by the Man of Sin, the Roman Catholic institution, in the Dark Ages. May we be watchful and vigilant, sounding the alarm, practically demonstrating, and preparing the world for the soon coming of the Son of Man!

The Presidential Campaign and Apostacy from National Principles: Part 2

BY IKEMBA BALOGU

The 1890s marks the turning point of the USA's march from Republicanism toward Imperialism. She began her own empire by officially annexing Hawaii in July 1898 through the Newlands Resolution and then, after she had won the Spanish-American War (effectively ending Spain's empire in the Western Hemisphere), she proceeded to acquire the territories of Puerto Rico (1898), Guam (1898), the Philippines (1898), and eventually, the American Samoa Islands (1900).

It is true that Hawaii has officially been a state of the USA since August of 1959. It is also true that since July 4, 1946, the Philippines has acquired full national independence and is no longer a territory of the USA. However, Puerto Rico and Guam has remained American territories since 1898 and the like is true regarding the American Samoan Islands (1900). Also, the U.S. Virgin Islands (1917) and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands (1986) has been added to her list of permanently inhabited territories.

In view of these facts, it would do us well to consider the solemn words of a late Irish-born educator:

"Rome became imperial because she was unable or unwilling to extend the privileges of her constitution to the nations which she conquered. This was the cause of her imperialism. Continued on Page 12....

> "From 1945 to the end of the century, the United States attempted to overthrow more than 40 governments; and to crush more than 30 populist-nationalist movements struggling against intolerable regimes. In the process the US cause the end of life from several million people, and condemned many more to a life of agony and despair."

The result to the Roman people themselves was that 'their own liberties perished.' In refusing the privileges of her constitution to the peoples whom she had conquered, Rome denied a fundamental law of her own governmental being, and nothing else could logically follow but ruin of her government, of her constitution; that is, the ruin of the republic of Rome.."—Percy Tilson Magan, The Peril of the Republic of the United States of America,
Chapter 9: "In the Trail of Rome," pg. 138, par. 3
Is that not the USA today? Has she not been either "unable or unwilling to extend the privileges of her constitution to" Puerto Rico, Guam, the American Samoan Islands, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands? Is this not "the cause of her imperialism"? As a result, has there not been gradual yet certain signs that to the American "people themselves" "their own liberties are and have been perishing"? And if such an apostasy from Republicanism was "logically followed" by "the ruin of the republic of Rome," has not a similar apostasy from Republicanism on the part of the USA been "logically followed" by "the ruin of the republic of United States of America"?
And if not, why not? These historical facts, along with its subsequent questions, clearly demonstrate that for the past 125 years, there has been national apostasy from the principle of Republicanism by the USA.
But what of this nation's apostasy from the principle of Protestantism? Has it taken place yet?...

"The Roman Church-State devised much of the theory on which secular twentieth century totalitarian regimes have been based, as well as acting as a model for them...secret police, secret trials, forfeiture of property,...infallible party, wars of aggression, wars of extermination, the big lie technique propaganda – these are also the things that have characterized the theory and practice of the Roman Church-state for centuries."
